CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Anniversary—Prominent Couple in Marion Have Grand Time Surrounded by Friends.

Monday of this week marked the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Judge and Mrs. J. A. Moore, and in observance of the notable occasion a family reunion was held here. Though the children of this union have been widely scattered since reaching the age of responsibility all that are living, together with every one of the grandchildren, were present. There were three vacant places, those being those of Margaret and William, who died in infancy, and Robert M. Moore who was killed accidentally about 2 years ago.

An especially honored guest was Mrs. Julia Bourland, of Madisonville, the venerable step mother of Mrs. Moore. In addition to the immediate family there were several relatives and a number of close friends, also present.

While the various members of the family gathered here Saturday and they spent the time most happily, the real celebration came on Monday, of course. This was in form of a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moore, in East Marion, where a substantial, varied and appetizing dinner was served. All of this took place out of doors. Large tables were spread under the shade trees, chairs and settees filled the porch and yard and the invited family and their friends mingled in gossamer intercourse for several hours. The chief feature of the dinner was the lamb and potatoes and the preparation which Uncle Lige McCain, the colored expert in this line, had spent a sleepless and diligent night. There were side dishes of many kinds and to make it all complete and to fill all stomachs to the last limit, ices and cakes were served as dessert.

Dr. Arthur Mather made a brief talk before returning thanks, and in a most eloquent manner he spoke of the long and useful lives of Judge and Mrs. Moore, and prayed that many years of health and activity might yet be granted to them.

Specially enjoyable features of the occasion were the singing of a quartette composed of Messrs. James Travis, Virgil and Homer Moore and Chas. Moore, and the music rendered by the orchestra composed of Misses Ina Price, Madeline Jenkins, Maud Dixon, Lucile Pope, Linda Jenkins and Louise Clement, and Messrs. Ira Sutherland, Geo. R. Orme, and Homer Moore.

In all of this region there is no more widely popular couple than are Judge and Mrs. Moore. While the people generally could not meet them personally and express their respects, there was no one who was cognizant of observance of their anniversary but who had the warmest and most felicitous feelings for them.

Judge Moore was born in this county on October 25th, 1836. His education was secured in the county schools, but he made the most of his limited opportunities by wide reading, digesting and assimilating what he read. On September 25, 1861 he was married to Miss Martha Bourland, the pretty and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Bourland, of this county. Their married life has been typical of the love of man and woman—that of the man being a constant, true devotion that spoke for itself; that of the woman being the sincere, steady, all absorbing, self denying love that gives to the marriage relation that purity and beauty which makes it the ideal existence of every rightly constituted human being. Through the fifty long years which they have spent together, sharing alike the joys that came to them and each cheerfully helping to bear the other's burdens and sorrows, Judge and Mrs. Moore have been blessed in many ways. Raising a large family they have been vouchsafed the pleasure of seeing them grow from dependent babyhood to busy youth and develop into strong men and women who all have now married and have taken their places in the world as active, useful citizens, and have seen them progress steadily in the christian life in which they were reared.

To Marion and Crittenden Co., this couple have ever been a source of good and helpfulness. Coming to Marion from the country in 1884, Judge Moore entered the practice of law and has been honored by the people with the office of representative in the state legislature in 1884 and was successfully elected for four terms, or 16 years, as county judge. Now he is the efficient city attorney.

During all his life Judge Moore has been prominently identified with public affairs and has al-

Stranded Circus

Sold For $35,000

Animals Will Be Moved From Morganfield To The Cincinnati Zoo.

An announcement has been made by attorney Arthur Bensinger of Morganfield, Ky., that the complete collection of animals relative to the circus stranded at Morganfield, Ky., has been sold, and the property will be bought in by Daniel Robinson, who has decided to winter the animals in the Zoological Gardens in Cincinnati.

A conference between the attorneys representing all interests was held at Mr. Bensinger's office last night, and a proposition of $35,000 cash was submitted by Mr. Robinson. An agreement to accept this offer without delay was signed by the Columbia Trust Company, as receiver, and by all the attorneys in the case representing owners and creditors.

At the urgent request of the citizens of Morganfield, the animals will be moved at once to Cincinnati.

They have been active in supporting these projects and men which promised best for the welfare of the county.

Through it all Mrs. Moore has been his chief adviser, his helpmate in all that the term implies and his solace and comfort when clouds hung lowest. So it is that everybody has the best of wishes for this loved and lovable couple, and the universal prayer is that they may be spared to their family and to the community for years to come.

The immediate family as they gathered here Monday, is as follows: Judge and Mrs. James A. Moore; Mrs. Julia Bourland, of Madisonville, step-mother of Mr. Moore; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Daugherty, of this county, the latter a sister to Judge Moore; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Moore, of Madisonville, and children, William Edward and Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Moore, of Owensboro, and son, Hunter; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bacon, of Hopkinsville; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Moore, of Marion, and sons, Virgil, Homer and Neville; Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Moore, of Marion, and children, Elzie, Mildred, Ruth, Catherine, Newton, Fannie and Hickman; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Moore, of Marion, and children, Owen, Harry, Evalyn, Alfred, and James Edward; Mr. and Mrs. Levi Cook, of Marion, and daughter, Elizabeth; the children of Robert M. Moore, deceased, Hebert, Lucile, Selma, Sylvan and Carrie, who now make their home here with their grandparents.

PROF. SNYDER WANTS DAMAGES

Sues Hotelkeeper For Allowing Him to Miss Train

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 26.—Not because he didn't get off at Buffalo, but because he didn't get away from Dawson, J. U. Snyder, principal of the Marion high school, filed suit in the circuit court today against E. T. Harrel, a hotelkeeper of Dawson. Snyder alleges that he received a telegram that his mother was dying in Whitley county. He went to Princeton, arriving there in the evening, and found that he could not get a train until the next morning. He went to Dawson and told the hotel people to wake him up in time for the early train. This was not done, and Snyder wants $2,000 because Harrel let him sleep and he missed the train.

WE GET ONE

Three Routes For Jeff-Davis Way From Hopkinsville.

No Trouble To Get Financial Backers For Model Highway.

Fully twenty-six hundred business men, farmers, doctors, lawyers, judges, magistrates, and altruistic citizens, comprising the very flower of West Kentucky's manhood, representing the civic leaders of Crittenden, Livingston, McCracken, Calloway, Graves, Marshall, Caldwell, Trigg, Ballard, Lyon, Christian, Todd and Logan counties with scattered representations from other counties, yesterday went into a Good Roads convention at the Kentucky theatre roused to a fervor never seen in a purely business affair, and rarely ever seen even in the more surcharged religious revivals. Hard-headed cold-blooded business men were willing to fight their neighbors who lived across the county line. Fiscal courts, with every member present held called sessions perched on the back of opera chairs while the convention raged about them and voted qualified appropriations to attract through their counties the Jefferson Davis Highway. Every delegation was set determinedly on getting the road.

And best of all every county got what it wanted.

Instead of the Jefferson Davis Highway passing west from Hopkinsville by way of one of the four proposed routes, it will fork to two routes at Hopkinsville and fork again at Princeton.

The lower Jefferson Davis Way will run from the Davis Farm to Hopkinsville, to Gracey, to Cadiz, to Golden Pond, to Old Calloway landing, to Murray, to Mayfield, and thence to Paducah.

The upper Jefferson Davis Way will start from the Farm and run over a common road to Hopkinsville where it will take a route thence to Princeton, to Marion, to Salem, to Smithland, to Livingston's point and into Paducah.

The General Lyon Branch of the Jefferson Davis Way will fork from the upper route at Princeton, run thence to Eddyville, Kuttawa, McEuen landing to Benton, and thence into Paducah.

Converging at Paducah, the three branches will extend from Paducah via the Woolville road into Ballard county and will be carried then by the citizens of that county to the Mississippi river at Old Fort Jefferson.

East from the Jefferson Davis Farm the road will run to Elkton and from there to Russellville. One fork there will run to Franklin and join the Nashville Highway, and another fork will run north and join the Lincoln Way at Bowling Green. These routes will be uniform. The roads will be constructed of a like material, of a like grade, of a like width and base, and General Bennett A. Young will plant a catalpa tree every fifty feet along each.

Surely West Kentucky has come into its own again with fervor rarely approached, and determined that instead of one route for the Jefferson Davis Highway from Hopkinsville, three branches centering at Paducah shall be built, each of a standard width and grade.

The appropriations to cover costs were oversubscribed from the floor, the fiscal courts of three counties going into a called session perched on the back of opera chairs in the middle of a crowded convention hall.

MARION BOY IS HIGHLY HONORED

When the Kentucky State University Senior Class of 1912, elected their officers last Wednesday they unanimously elected N. G. Rochester, an educational student from Marion as Valedictorian.

It seems to have become a custom to elect our boys as Valedictorians of the classes there as Mr. Rochester's election makes three out of the last four years. In 1909 the class had as their Valedictorian V. Y. Moore, and the class of 1911 had as their Valedictorian H. A. Babb of Marion also. So you see with the selection of Mr. Rochester this year the University recognizes the excellent work being done by our High School. No other High School in the State has such a record.

Mr. Rochester's selection did not come as a surprise for he has already established his reputation as an orator and like Mr. Moore was the class orator in his Junior year. This is a distinction and an honor to the Marion School and should help the State University in western Kentucky. Gray Rochester is a universal favorite here and we all are glad to see his talent recognized.

OLD COINS

"Uncle" Lige Cullen, of Wheatcroft, was in Dixon, Monday and while here showed us his collection of old coins. He has a goodly number in the collection, and while some of them are not so old, they make up by being odd. The oldest and oddest of the collection, is an English coin made in 1797, during the reign of George the III. This piece of money is more than twice as heavy as a silver dollar; has on one side, "Georgius III D. G. Reg." on the other "Britannia 1797." It was given to Mr. Cullen's father twenty years before he (Uncle Lige) was born, with the instruction that it be given to his first son. Mr. Cullen says he would not part with it.

human listeners as that of the guinea fowl. The average man rarely hears it without secretly longing to throttle the throat from which it came.

Yet it has its uses. Guinea fowl are the policemen of the poultry yard. They serve as guards to give other fowls warning of the approach of danger, whether it be in the form of thieves, dogs, hawks, or crows. The cry of the guinea is said to be terrifying to hawks and other predatory birds, and it has prevented many a raid upon tempting flocks of poultry. But the fact remains that it is an affront to the human ear.—New York Mail.

MILD, GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR WOMEN GIVEN FREE

So many of the ills of women are due to habitual constipation, probably because of their false modesty on the subject, that their attention cannot be too strongly called to the importance of keeping the bowels open. It is always important to do that, regardless of the sex, but it is especially important in women.

From the time the girl begins to menstruate until menopause ceases she has always vastly better prospects of coming through healthy if she watches her bowel movements. If you find yourself constipated, with bad breath, pimply complexion, headaches, belching gas and other symptoms of indigestion and constipation, take a small dose of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is woman's favorite laxative. You will find that you can do away with salts, strong cathartics, etc., which are entirely unsuited to woman's requirements.

Mrs. Katherine Haehstroh of McKees Rocks, Pa., and Mrs. A. E. Herrick of Wheeler, Mich., who was almost paralyzed in her stomach and bowels, are now cured by the use of this remedy. A free sample bottle can be obtained by addressing Dr. Caldwell, and after you are convinced of its merits buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

For the free sample address Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 402 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

There is a protracted meeting in progress at the Tabb mines conducted by Rev. George Cramer. He is preaching some fine sermons. There are good crowds in attendance.

The annual protracted meeting will begin at Cookseyville the second Sunday in October.

The spar mining is on a boom at Mexico. What we need is a good hotel, new depot, livery stable and good roads.

All parents in Mexico should send the children to school. These bright boys and girls are missing the best opportunity of their lives.

Why hunt a new laundry-man or woman every week. Take the old Reliable and stick to it. We are here to stay. Metcalfe, Roy Gilbert, Manager.

THE 20th KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY

An Interesting War Record by F.
S. Loyd, of Fredonia, Lieutenant Company H.

Seeing a notice in the National Tribune asking someone to give a history of the 20th Ky. Volunteer Infantry during the late Civil War, I thought I would write some about the company of which I was first Lieutenant, Company H, of that Regiment, which was with the 20th Kentucky from start to finish. Our company was organized at Smithland, Ky., in October 1861 and was consolidated with 6 companies from the upper part of the state, Cos. A, B, C, F, I and K, Cos. D, E, H and G were recruited by Col. Williams, the other companies by Col. S. P. Bruce. The service demanded troops and they were thrown together and called 20th Ky. Vol. Infy. We were mustered into the U. S. Service January 6, 1862 at Smithland, Ky., by Lt. Col. Chetland, U. S. A. Mustered Officer. After staying at Smithland some 3 weeks we were ordered to board the Steamer Baltic, and were taken to Louisville, Ky., marched to the farm of Wm. Tinsley, some 4 miles from the city, there was where the writer was elected 1st Lieut. of Co. H. After remaining 4 or 5 days in camp drilling 4 hours per day, we were ordered to march to Bardstown, thence to Camp Bruce on the Bowling Green road, stayed 2 days, were ordered back to Louisville, to go to Fort Dowdson, marched 1 day, camped and that night, Feb. 15, the order was countermanded and we were ordered to Bowling Green and camped on the same spot, Camp Bruce, remained all night and at 6 o'clock ordered to march, marched all day, got to Bowling Green in the night. Our Regiment was the first to arrive. Stayed several days in camp then we were ordered to Nashville, Tenn. All the bridges were burned, the railroad bridge was still burning when we were transported on some boats across the Cumberland river. Marched up through the city taking a number of straggling prisoners. We marched around the Capitol 2 or 3 times, camped in the Capitol yard stayed a few days, marched out on the Murfreesboro pike to Murfreesboro, then to McMinnville, then on to Savannah, Tenn., camp. Our regiment was ordered to be paid off Sunday morning, company A and B were paid. The fight opened at Shiloh, Pittsburg Landing, April 6. General Nelson ordered the paying of the troops stopped and fall in line awaiting orders, stood in line for 2 or 3 hours awaiting orders from Buell, but no orders came. Nelson could not stand it any longer, started without order and when about half way to Pittsburg Landing met a carrier coming with orders ordering us to get there as soon as possible. We were double quick for 4 miles crossed the river on boats, formed line of battle in evening, lay on arms all night, early in the morning April 7 we were thrown out as skirmishes, met the enemy and soon got them started on the run. The casualties of our regiment, 1 wounded and 1 killed, John Boone.

Late in the evening we were ordered back to camp, remained all night, rained all night hard, next morning some of the pickets after being relieved discharged their guns and Gen. Nelson thought they were coming again, ordered his brigade to fall in line of battle, but it turned out to be a false alarm. We went back to camp and details were made to bury the dead. Monday and Tuesday were taken up in this. On Thursday we were ordered to move toward Corinth, Miss., got to Corinth, it was evacuated. Marched on after them to Athens, Ala., then to Iuka, Miss., then back to Murfreesboro, crossed the Cumberland river and was ordered after Bragg, who was making his way to Louisville, marched through Bowling Green to the mouth of the canal and the river in a potato patch, stayed two days, then we were ordered to go after Bragg and we overtook him at Perryville where we had a sharp little fight.

After the fight we were ordered to Lebanon to do garrison duty. After being there some three or four weeks John Morgan came through and attacked our Regiment which was reduced to about 850 men and officers, with 4,000 or 5,000 men. We held him off for 3 hours, losing four men killed and several wounded. We were compelled to surrender. Marched to Camp Dick, Robbins in 9 miles, double quick. We were paroled and returned to Lebanon. All of our tents and records were burned.

After being exchanged we were ordered to Louisville to take charge of the military prison. Remained there until May 15, 1864. We left Louisville for the front at 6 o'clock p. m. running all night, arrived at Nashville, Tenn., on the morning of the 16th at 7 o'clock. Stayed on the platform from 7 to 9 o'clock when we were ordered to Barracks No. 2 at the Chattanooga depot. Remained there all night. Tuesday the 17 at 10 o'clock a. m. we received orders to move forward, got on the Chattanooga train, passing through Murfreesboro, Tenn., running all night. It rained very hard Wednesday, May 18. On this morning we arrived at Stevenson, Ala., and run on to Chattanooga, Tenn. Arriving at 10 o'clock a. m. remained at the depot until 11 o'clock when we were ordered to camp at the foot of Lookout Mountain and ordered to make all the fires we could and all the noise we could to attract the attention of the rebel army on that side of the mountain while they were making arrangements to charge the mountain on the other side.

Thursday, May 19, we drew new tents and remained in camp all day, it was very warm. Friday, May 20, remained in camp all day and drilled 2 hours forenoon and 2 afternoon.

Arrived at Kingston at 2 o'clock a. m., got off of the cars and marched 6 miles after dark to Cass Station, passing through Cassville. Pitched tents in the woods and remained all night. Monday, May 25, at 9 o'clock p. m. we received orders to guard a wagon train through. We started on our march and marched 10 miles after night, passing near Etawa Station. Tuesday, May 24, at 10 o'clock a. m. we crossed the river, after marching through rain and mud that night we stopped on the bank of a small creek, Rockhow creek and got breakfast. The men were wet and all their clothes wet.

Wednesday, May 25, at 1 o'clock a. m. we still continued our march. After marching 10 miles through rain and mud at 10 o'clock p. m. we camped in the edge of the woods and remained that night. All were wet and hungry.

Thursday, May 26, at 9 o'clock a. m. we received orders to march and we marched 2 miles to the rear and were ordered back, marched back to the place where we camped before. Pitched tents and remained all night.

WHITE SHOES TO BE WORN DURING WINTER.

The white shoe craze which has so thoroughly seized the feminine sex bids fair not to disappear with the approach of winter. Some of the men have declared that as Sept. 21 is the limit for the appearance of straw hats that the white shoes should disappear also on that date.

However, shoe dealers are not calculating upon the men winning out. White shoes will be offered for sale for winter wear. The winter shoes are made of heavy buck leather. They may be cleaned with soap and water when soiled. The summer white shoes are made of canvas or light leather and they are cleaned with a polish.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctor treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in Chicago I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began to use it and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."
—Mrs. SARAH STEVENS, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.
Huntington, Mass.—"I was a nervous, run-down condition and for three years could find no help. I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that I have saved my life. My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."
—Mrs. MAJOR JAS. H. HAYES, Box 141, Huntington, Mass.
Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

Tried to Burn Man to Death.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 19.—Following his arrest on the charge of arson George Burtt, an inspector for a light and power company admitted to the police that he set fire to the home of Emil Aichele "to burn up" Frederick J. Lustig, who married Burtt's former wife. Burtt said he had called on his former wife Thursday, as he often had done since they separated four years ago, and that when Lustig came home he took his wife into the house without speaking to Burtt. The prisoner said this angered him, and he decided Lustig should die, and he planned the fire as the best way to get rid of him. The prisoner said he had warned Mrs. Lustig that he was thinking of doing away with her husband so that he could marry her again.

Volcano Still Active.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 25.—At attempt to ascend Mount Etna was made today, but it was impossible to get nearer than fifty feet from one of the craters, owing to the intense heat and thick smoke in which no one could live.

The eruption of lava continues. Near the source the river of lava flows swiftly, outdistancing men who ran along its edge. Further down the volcano's sides the mass cools gradually and thickening, it divides into four principal streams and loses much of its velocity. Great masses of rock wrenched from the crater's edge float and roll down the slope, slowly liquifying. The constant cannonading of the volcano is fairly deafening.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

BY R. F. WHEELER.

Make It Unanimous.

A tobacco grower, who is not a member of the Association, said to the writer, not long since, that he believed in the Association, that he wanted it to go on; but that he believed that some growers ought to stay out of it in order to make competition. This man, in common with many others, seemed to have the erroneous idea that the Stemming District Tobacco Association is a sort of tobacco buying concern. The fact is, that it is not a buying, but a selling concern, and the more growers that stay out of it the more competition they make in selling. This makes it better for buyer and worse for seller. You know that if there is only one buyer for an article and many who have the article to sell the buyer has the advantage in the trade. A few years ago the buyers of our type of tobacco organized. One object was to get their tobacco cheaper. They succeeded. Then it was that the growers of this district organized the Association. Its object was to get all of the tobacco of type in one organization, have one good competent man sell the whole crop and therefore be on equal terms with the trust.

Some growers are still staying out of the Association. It is caused, in many cases, by petty grievances, or objections to the minor details of the management of the affairs. Much of it is caused by a want of knowledge on the part of the grower as to the management of the organization. Some seem to prefer to give ear to every charge circulated by enemies of the organization to getting their information from first hands. This is inexcusable. The books are open at all times to all members. Any officer connected with it, will take pleasure in giving you any information that you may want.

But we can never have an organization that will exactly suit every grower. Neither was there ever a government run to suit every citizen, nor a church that exactly suited every member. Still we have, and must have, government and churches. This life is largely a matter of compromise. A matter of give and take. The boy who must have everything to his liking, before he will help in any undertaking, we call a spoiled child. That disposition is as objectionable in grown people as it is in children. It has been a long, hard fight to organize the Association. Many of the best and most intelligent tobacco growers in the five counties have sacrificed much time and money in the work, they will never so again if the Organization is allowed to go down on account of support. Should this occur it will be nearly impossible to organize this District for a generation to come. This is an agricultural section. Tobacco is the principle money crop. The Stemming District Tobacco Association is trying to get for the growers the worth of their crop. It is interfering with no other business or interest. If it goes down every business and professional interest in the district will suffer. Some large English manufacturing concerns will, however, probably pay their stockholders large dividends, if that will be any consolation.

The southern part of this county has never been in the Association. This is caused largely by certain disturbances that occurred several years ago. An occurrence that the Association nor its members were ever accused of participating in. But unfortunately they occurred about the time that it was being organized in this county. Some people seem to have gotten the two events associated together in their minds and cannot easily rid themselves of the delusion.

Now can we not come together on some proposition. This county cannot remain part As association and part independent. Let us compromise the matter and make it unanimous.

To Jas. Whitcomb Riley Gardener.

BY HENRY VAN DYKE.

Yours is a garden of old fashioned flowers,
Joyous children delight to play there;
Weary men find rest in its bowers,
Watching the lingering light of day there.

Old-time tunes and young love's laughter
Ripple and run among the roses;
Memory's echoes come murmuring after,
Filling the dusk when the long day closes.

Simple songs with cadence often—
There you learned in the forest of Arden—
Friendly flowers with hearts all golden—
These you borrowed from Eden's garden.

This is the reason why all men love you
Remember your songs, and forget your art;
Other poets may soar above you—
You keep close to the human heart.

ROOSEVELT'S HUNT COST LARGE SUM

$80,000 Spent, And Three Fifths of Amount Paid by His Friends.

Washington, Sept. 26.—The cost of the Roosevelt expedition into Africa under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution, was $80,000. The expenses of the actual hunting were divided, the Smithsonian Institution paying about three-fifths and Colonel Roosevelt about two-fifths. The division of expenses ceased, it is said at the institution today, when Colonel Roosevelt started on his tour of Egypt and Europe and homeward bound.

Secretary Walcott is only person who knows who were the contributors of the $57,000 spent by the institution in defraying its three-fifths of the expenses of the hunt. He has assured the board of regents that not one penny of the money appropriated by the Federal government was used and that the money was all collected by him personally from friends of the Colonel. He will not make public the list of contributors, it was stated Thursday, until the National Museum is ready to open to the public the Roosevelt exhibit of African wild animal and bird life. This collection will not be ready for at least a year.

EDWARD D. STONE

A Crittenden Co., Boy in Cumberland University.

Hon. Edward D. Stone, member of the law department of Cumberland University, delivered the opening speech of the University Debating Club, in the presence of a large body of Literary and Law students in Carver's Hall Friday evening, Sept. 22nd.

The subject for argument was, "Resolved that United States Senators should be elected by direct vote of the people."

Mr. Stone's argument was strong and directly to the point. In part, he said: The people of the United States are proud of their history. It is a touching and noble story. The American youth knows something of the constitutional history and the annals of other hands, his children have delighted in the half-fabulous legends by which they explain their origin. He is especially acquainted with the history of the older republics and of countries where constituted liberty has in other years found its home.

I believe in our National motto. I am glad that every American can proudly call that roll of honor without reservation, apology or mission.

From Virginia came Jefferson and Washington to frame and sign the constitution. Sherman, of Conn.; Reel, of Delaware; Clymer and Wilson, of Tennessee, near them were those sweet-spirited and able counsellors and orators; Arthur Middleton, of S. C.; Lee, of Virginia, then came John Witherspoon, of Princeton college, a disciple of Christ, and the Christian doctrine of civil liberty. John Penn, the sturdy patriot of N. J.; Hall, of Georgia; Chas. Pinckney and Sumner, of Maryland; Floyd and Livermore, of N. Y.; and a number of others more than seventy are launched into the constitution, the clause of electing United States Senators by legislative.

In this argument, Mr. Stone was placed as the leading speaker at the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson, where the students of the University will meet in November, 1901.

It was a notable fact that every speaker from Marion, Crittenden county, at the meeting at the courthouse last week was an enthusiastic supporter of the issuance of bonds to construct good roads, because all agreed that roads are a necessity and that it is economy to borrow the money and buy what you need. Among the speakers were the prominent Republicans of Crittenden county, who took the lead in advocating the bond issue, viz: Hon. Jas. Moore, ex-Representative of Crittenden and Livingston and eight years county judge of Crittenden; John A. Moore, the present republican county attorney of Crittenden; Wm. Yandell, the old time Republican leader of Crittenden and one of the most successful business men in the county, followed by Judge J. P. Gordon, our circuit judge, all of whom were outspoken in their most enthusiastic endorsements of issuing bonds and borrowing the money and building good roads. It is the only way. Said

OUR ROADS.

There is no question, at this time, of greater importance to every section of our county than our roads. How to make the best roads and maintain them at the least cost to our taxpayers. And I am glad to see evidences on all sides of a great awakening of interest in this matter upon the part of our citizens.

It is time that we should all wake up and put our best thoughts and endeavors to devising a system that will insure us the best roads that can be obtained with the resources that we have at hand. It is natural that we should all be interested in this matter and that we should all take a pride in having the best that can be obtained. There is no one who owns a farm or a home but takes the landable pride in improving it to the best of his ability.

The roads are the property of all, are used by all, the poorest child in the county has as much interest in the roads as the richest person in it. No one can say that the roads are his and that another has not an equal right to them. That being true, the poorest citizen in the county should have as much right as the richest citizen in it to say how our roads should be improved.

Every taxpayer should pay as much for them building and maintaining as every other taxpayer, in proportion to the property owned by each. We should all pay in proportion to what we have, so one should pay more than another unless he owns more property to pay on. At present we are paying more in money and work for the maintenance of our roads than all other things in the county combined. It is for the purpose of calling attention to some of the inequalities of our present system that have occurred to me and I have been your constant advisor and asking for some suggestions from our citizens as to how we may improve these matters that I am writing this article.

I believe we have as good a people in Crittenden county as can be found anywhere in the world. I like them better and for that reason I live among them. I feel that our people are as much entitled to the best that can be had as any other people.

Mr. Jenkins has offered to publish any articles from any of our citizens, looking to the betterment of our roads, and I hope that our citizens will take the opportunity of giving a full, free discussion so as to help our Fiscal Court, who have the supervision and control of the roads, to put them on a better footing. We feel that we need your advice and assistance.

I do not believe in a lavish waste of money and I am convinced from my experience with the present system that we are spending too much money in this county for what we are getting in the shape of roads. It is true there has been some improvement in our roads but not such improvements as the cost should show. Solomon says, "In the multitude of Counselors there is safety." Then come and let us reason together and see where the leak is and how it can be stopped.

In the first place, we have no system. Under our present plan the County Judge and Fiscal Court are supposed to be at the head, or rather the supervisors of the roads. The Fiscal Court makes provision for plows and teams and the working of roads. The County Judge appoints the overseers and allots the hands to various precincts. The result is that every road overseer in the county may have a different idea of how his section should be worked. In the allotment of hands it is impossible to arrange it so there will be an equal task put upon all the road hands. In some sections, on account of the greater density of the population, we find there are four or five hands to the mile, while on other sections, of rougher roads perhaps, there may be only one or two hands to the mile available. The result is that some hands are doing four or five times as much as other hands in work upon the roads. No fair minded man will say that is just or right. In addition to this our Fiscal Court has attempted to have graders used, and have appropriated $200 to each magisterial district for the purpose of grading the roads with graders. This sum has not been sufficient to grade all the roads, and the result is that the best sections of the roads have been graded and the hands on those sections, in a larger part, have been relieved from work, while the hands on the other sections have been compelled to work their roads and help pay the cost of the graders on the other sections. This arrangement is manifestly unjust. We should all pay alike in proportion to our property.

Again, the poorest man in the county, within the road age, is liable to be called upon for as much work, as the man who may own hundreds of acres. That does not seem fair to me.

Again, when the overseer warns his hands out he will generally find some who do not do good work and if he does not makethem work the others complain, and if he does force them to work he loses their friendship. It is almost impossible for the overseer to find a time suitable for all his hands to go without great sacrifice to some of them. As the result he waits until the crops are pitched, or in a condition to leave them without too great a loss and the roads are left for a convenient season, and, when that time comes, it is generally too late in the season to do good work on the roads and they cannot then be put in good condition to stand the wear and weather. As the overseer gets nothing for his work, we all dislike to indit and have him fined for his failure to keep his road in good condition, and there you go. But how are we to remedy it without too great cost? We do not want to pay taxes when we can avoid it. And when we talk of working the roads by taxation, we naturally shrink from the experiment, but let us see what it is costing under the present system. We have over three thousand voters in the county. I presume we have at least 2000 road hands in the county, from 18 to 50 years of age. These two thousand hands presume to work six days each per year, or 12,000 days in all. This labor, if hired, would average $1.00 each per day, or $12,000, but we will say seventy-five cents per day, making $9,000.00. In addition to this labor we spent last year for plows and teams $3,154.77, and for graders $1,302.95, making in all $4,457.72. This with the labor counted at one dollar per day amounts to the sum of $16,457.72, or at 75 cents per day to $13,457.72. That looks like a good big sum to put on the roads each year to be washed away by the rains.

I believe that if we are to continue our dirt roads it would be cheaper for us to hire four good men with teams for 100 days each, to begin as early in the spring as practicable, one on each side of the county, and let them grade all the roads that can be graded and then allot the hands to work on rough, rocky places, where the graders cannot be used. The graders, by this arrangement, would cost $4,800.00, which is only $350.00 more than we are already paying for plows and teams and graders. And the hands would not then have so much time to work and they could put the rough places in better condition. There are about 500 miles of road in the county, and allowing one mile per day as the average amount to be graded, the four graders could grade about 400 miles, or practically all the roads that could be graded.

In addition to this I am of the opinion that the Fiscal Court should adopt a system for converting our roads into turnpikes by setting aside a certain amount each year for that purpose, or by buying a roller and crusher and crushing rock in various sections of the county for the purpose of covering the roads in the worst places. I believe the farmers in various neighborhoods would gladly furnish their teams for hauling the rock and distributing it along the roads, if the county would roll them and put them in shape. And in this way we could gradually change our roads into pikes without any great burden to our taxpayers.

J. W. BLUE,
County Judge.

BABY CRUSHED TO DEATH IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Machine Turns Turtle and Grandparent Falls on Child—Five Are Injured.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 24.—An automobile containing six persons turned turtle in a ditch on the side of the Fairview road, six miles east of here, this afternoon. A baby was killed and the other occupants of the car were badly bruised. The machine belonged to Nick Blakenship, of Elkton, and was driven by his son, Lee, aged 20.

In the car were Mrs. Blakenship, her two little daughters and her married daughter, Mrs. Jack West, of Evansville. Mrs. West had her 1-year-old son in her arms.

As the automobile was passing over a bridge it ran into a rut and young Blakenship lost control of the machine. The car turned over in a ditch eight feet deep and filled with thorns. The baby was crushed to death under the weight of its mother and grand mother. The other victims of the accident were bruised and lacerated by the thorns and Mrs. West's arm was broken, but the sloping side of the ditch kept the automobile from crushing them.

There is in round numbers, in this dividend, $93,500 distributed in the district.

Everybody seemed to be well satisfied with the report and also their check.

The affair was in the nature of a surprise party, as each guest brought some little token of remembrance to our beloved sister Wilson, which Mrs. Harris in a few well chosen words presented just before refreshments were served, after which Bro. Wilson was called upon for a speech to which he responded with a humorous anecdote and ere the laughter had subsided Mr. Bruner arrived to photograph the group.

Six pallbearers entered the chapel carrying a coffin headed by the university band, the other members of the Senior class following in solemn procession. A splendid entertainment was given at the Baby show last Monday night consisting of Marion's best local talent. Torondo made a great hit in his monologue and make up and pleased the audience immensely as proven by their laughter and applause. The Harrod twins in spot-light songs deserve special mention. The male quartette in a splendid selection, won much praise and last of all but not least was the Marion Brass Band which rendered several fine numbers, under the leadership of Prof. W. R. Lawson. We predict for them a bright future. The Baby show will continue through several nights of next week in change of program nightly.

Good Roads.

The Lyon county delegation came with $25000 offered to send the Jeff Davis Way through their county. Their delegation was headed by State Senator N. W. Utley. These delegates are interested in central route No. 2.

Editor George Landram, of the Smithland Banner, headed the Livingston county delegation, which was on hand early in the afternoon. They came with more than $33,000, for the road, offered by the fiscal court and residents of that county.

Crittenden and Caldwell county delegations came with the one best offer, guaranteeing to build as much of the pike as runs through their counties. This was authorized by fiscal courts of both counties. These two counties will press the northern route, considered as one of the acceptable to Paducah.

Some of the Delegates

From Our County.

Judge J. W. Blue, George M. Crider, T. H. Cochran, John A. Moore, James L. Travis, L. E. Guess, Sam Gugenheim, George P. Roberts, Dr. Mather, W. B. Yandell, H. K. Woods, G. W. Yates, R. Yates, C. C. Taylor, S. M. Jenkins, wife and daughter, John W. Wilson, J. H. Orme, R. H. Woods, M. E. Pogue, H. F. Morris, W. V. Haynes, Robt. Haynes and C. W. Haynes.

The fight between the counties has become as hot as a political affair, and if anything, is arousing greater enthusiasm among the champions of the different routes proposed.

The Crittenden, Caldwell and Livingston county delegates have formed a mutual protective association among themselves and will wage a pretty war against the espousers of the lower route.

So bitter has the fight become that the upper route delegates last night asked the News-Democrat to publish the following appeal to former residents of those counties who may live here.

To The Friends Of The Jefferson Davis Highway.

"Every citizen of Paducah formerly a citizen of Caldwell, Crittenden, or Livingston counties, and every friendly disposed citizen of Paducah to these three counties and the citizens thereof, are hereby earnestly requested to be at the Kentucky theater promptly at 9:30 this morning to aid and assist us in securing the Jefferson Davis Highway to pass through these three counties.

"It is to the financial and business interests of Paducah and McCracken county to have this road pass through these three counties, because a pike is already established through Marshall county, and to run through these other three counties will open up a new territory for Paducah merchants and add another highway into the metropolis of the Purchase.

"Do not fail to be on hand, if you are in favor of a fair and equitable adjustment and location of this proposed highway.

"We urge everyone to be promptly on hand at 9:30 this morning. It is to your interests to be there promptly on time. Lay aside your work for one day and be with your old home friends awhile, and for the sake of your 'Old Kentucky Home' be on hand promptly and help us to have this proposed highway pass through the your native counties above named—and bring a friend or two along with you.

(Signed)

Chas. H. Webb,

L. H. Adams,

L. D. Threlkeld,

C. C. Gressham,

Committee."

Another Model Highway Planned Through our County.

E. A. Jones, of Louisville, Springs Idea And Has Map to Back it Up—Speakers to Come Here to Boom Project.

E. A. Jones of Louisville, one of the best known newspaper men in the state, brought a good map to Henderson yesterday which detailed the construction of a model highway equal to the "Lincoln road" from Paducah to Louisville, with Henderson one of the important links along the route.

He also showed where a similar highway between Henderson and Hopkinsville could be constructed.

A movement aiming at the building of these highways will be started in the near future and speakers of prominence in road improvement will visit Henderson and other points to stimulate interest.

POINTS ALONG ROUTE

The proposed model highway from Paducah to Louisville would touch Smithland, Marion, Morganfield, Henderson, Owsboro, Lewisport, Hardinsburg, and West Point. At the last place it would connect with the Lincoln way.

The road from Henderson to Hopkinsville would touch at Dix and Madisonville.

Though the road between Paducah and Louisville would traverse Henderson county to the extent of 30 miles, only ten miles in this county would need to be constructed to be in keeping with the rest of the highway, as the remainder already is a rock road. In the proposed highway from Henderson to Hopkinsville only seven miles would be in the county.

The road from Paducah to Louisville would be 300 miles long, and would require a bridge across the Green river. The road from Henderson to Hopkinsville would be 80 miles long, and would connect with the Jeff Davis highway at Hopkinsville.

Would Gain Favor.

Mr. Jones and all others to whom he spoke regarding the subject, declared that popular favor in Henderson county undoubtedly would materialize. The cost of the enterprise would be secured by the fiscal courts and other institutions acting in unison. It is believed that all the necessary appropriations would be subscribed without trouble. The Louisville & Nashville railroad, it is said, would haul rock free of charge, which would be its share of the contribution to the good roads movement.

Mr. Jones says speakers will arrive here in due course and that the movement would be pushed to fruition, and that the press in this end of the state would assist in stimulating the cause. Paducah News-Democrat.

To Members of The Farmers' Union in Crittenden County.

As it is the duty of every officer of the County Union, to attend each and every meeting of the union, and as I can not be present at the October or the January meeting, I feel that I owe it to the cause which we love so dearly, to tender my resignation as president of the County Union. In doing so, please allow me to thank you for the honor bestowed upon me, and for the very great kindness received of the brotherhood.

Space forbids an extended review of the work done.

I can only say I have lost none of my love for the cause. We must push the good work with untiring zeal, being careful to preserve Peace and Harmony among ourselves and good will toward all mankind.

Remember that the victory is not to the strong, nor the race to the swift, but the faithful. Let us live to hail that season, by gifted minds foretold.

When man shall live by reason, And not alone by gold;

When man to man united, And every wrong thing righted,

The whole world shall be lighted As Eden was of old.

MOTOR EXPLODES

And Daring Aviator is Hurl'd to His Death Before Thousands of Spectators.

Troy, Ohio, Sept. 26.—Forced into the air by the jeers of thousands, who called him a coward, Frank H. Miller, aged 23 years, a Toledo, O., aviator shot into the sky at twilight this evening and at the height of 200 feet was burned to death before the eyes of the terrified spectators on the Miami county fair grounds here. His case resembled that of Captain Frisbie who was killed in Kansas recently.

Miller had circled the race track and was just starting on a spiral glide when it was seen that something was wrong. The birdman could be seen frantically to attempt to get his machine under control, when suddenly the whirring of the propellers ceased. The craft dropped like a shot when an explosion occurred. A large portion of the craft was torn away by the impact and hurled hundreds of feet in all directions. Meanwhile the remainder of the machine, with its driver literally roasted, was dropping rapidly to earth. It struck the ground with great violence, Miller's already charred body being buried under the motor. This is said to be the first explosion of an aeroplane motor while in the air in this country.
